

Granite State Dyno & Tune

This is a review for Granite State Dyno & Tune (www.dynonh.com). They are the sole people I trust with the health and life of my car, because they have earned it. Not only has their reputation, word of mouth, and proven business shown me that they are the “real deal”, but their respect and detail-attentiveness has built their trust.

Both Alex and Brian are hard working individuals that like to create a fun customer experience. On multiple occasions my connection with them has migrated from customer to friend. They are humans just like everyone else, and they like to make life enjoyable. This warm-welcoming atmosphere helps with trust, but can also be helpful with the anxious atmosphere. After all, this is your baby they are working with.

But that’s another thing. From my first experience with them, I have felt that my car was in good, safe hands. Alex continuously re-assures the customer, “I tune the car super-safe”. He explains that he never pushes the car past a safe, reliable tune. One that you won’t have to worry about, but can still enjoy everyday.

Over the last year and a half, I have seen Granite State Dyno & Tune expand from moving, to adding new services, to providing new product lines. With their growth, my trust and satisfaction as a customer has grown too. I look forward to my future interactions with GSD, and highly recommend their services to everyone.
